

Grace Centre for Newborn Care (GCNC)
Parent Advisory Council

Staff at Grace Centre for Newborn Care (GCNC) believe that families are the cornerstone of all activities and processes that occur in the unit. To help us provide the highest standard of care for infants and their families during their stay in Grace Ward the GCNC Parent Advisory Council was established in 2004. The Council is made of parents who have had an infant in GCNC. We work in partnership with staff to make GCNC a better place for babies and their families.

The GCNC Parent Advisory Council is a forum for families to provide their ideas or raise concerns. The Council also provides a family perspective to the GCNC unit on decisions that need to be made or changes that are being developed for improving family and newborn care.
